Ann Holloran, Principal

Dear Parents and Guardians,

To help reduce rumors and to provide some basic information, I wanted to write about an incident we had today. First of all, I want to commend the first grade class for immediately following my directions. One of our teachers was feeling ill and called me up to her classroom. After assessing the situation, I had those students join another classroom. Mrs. Morrison came up and we went into a “Shelter in Place.” That is when we ask students and adults to stay in their classroom for a time. We did call 911.

After the incident, I debriefed with the classroom where the event took place. I thanked them for following my directions, shared with them the basic information, and told them that I would be their substitute for the rest of the day.

Again, I would like to thank the whole school community for their work and collaboration during this medical situation.

Have a great weekend!
